Dear Graduate Students and Graduate Faculty:

This is a follow-up to the announcements that were sent yesterday, from the President and Provost of Tuskegee University, concerning the measures that have been taken to deal with the CORONAVIRUS.

The work of all graduate students, who are engaged in research, will continue under the direction of their Major Professor/Research Supervisor, as long as there are no large gatherings at the research site.

Graduate students should continue processing their papers including, Application for Candidacy of the Degree, submission of Preliminary Draft of Dissertation/Thesis to the Graduate School for approval, Request for scheduling the Final Oral examination, Final Oral Examination Report and submission of signed Dissertation/Thesis.

Caution must be observed to see that participation in the Qualifying Examinations and Final Oral Examinations is limited to key faculty members and a small number (less than 10) of graduate students who research is related to the contents of the presentation.

The offices of Research and the Graduate School will remain open to take care of your needs.

Sincerely,

Shaik Jeelani, Ph.D., P.E., Fellow ASME
Vice President for Research and Dean of Graduate School
