Caylor Roling

Caylor Roling is the Farm Director at E.A.T. South. Along with Education Director Amanda Edwards, they grow fresh fruits and vegetables year round on an arsenic contaminated urban lot, offer educational programs to people of all ages, and keep chickens, ducks and bees. In 2020, the Henry, Fiver, and Corneilia, heritage American Blue rabbits, joined the farm to add fertility to the soil and demonstrate sustainable backyard meat production.
