The program will share general information about membership intake and the membership selection process.

Together is our Favorite Place To Be.
Membership selection for NPHC groups is an individualized process that is different for each organization. Chapters choose the time when they will accept new members. This process, known as intake, generally begins with an interest meeting followed by a period of membership education. The membership process culminates with a presentation show in which the organization’s new members are introduced to the community.

NPHC chapters embrace a lifetime commitment philosophy and aim to assure the continuance of academic achievement, political awareness and community service.
