Sana Anwar is the Data & Evaluation Manager for the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) at the Alabama Cooperative Extension System, Auburn University. She oversees data quality, federal reporting, and program evaluation for a USDA-funded $2 million federal nutrition education grant, supporting more than 30 nutrition educators who serve communities across Alabama. Her work sits at the intersection of public health programming, evaluation, and data-informed policy.

Sana holds a Master of Public Administration and a Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Management from Auburn University and is completing a Graduate Certificate in Rural Studies. She also teaches American National Government as an adjunct instructor.

An Auburn native, Sana is active in leadership beyond her day-to-day role, serving as Chair-Elect of Opelika Young Professionals, Co-Vice President of Professional Development for the National Extension Association of Family and Consumer Sciences, and Co-Chair of Women in Technology at Auburn. She is also a recent graduate of the Southern Poverty Law Center's Alabama Advocacy Institute.

Through her work in public service and education, Sana believes in empowering others, creating opportunities, and making a lasting difference in the communities we call home.
